THE MORNING CRITIC BOOTH

At the Food Exposition--Merchants
Have Given Liberally -- Mrs.
Joseph Schreiber in Charge--
J. H. Fink Gives $10.

THE MORNING CRITIC hospital fund will receive a substantial lift within the next ten days because the people are going to patronize the pretty booth that has been erected at the Food Exposition. Manager Buckley erected the booth without a cent of cost, and his amiable wife smiled with approbation upon the project. The booth will be in charge of Mrs. Joseph D. Schreiber, a lady who is always foremost when charity is the subject, and she will be ably assisted by Miss Abbie Lelsenring, Katie Herb, Florence Nagle, Cora Schlosser, Daisy Schlosser and Lulu Mattern. Godfrey Pretz will render the young ladies valuable assistance.

John Bowen, the extensive grocer, delivered yesterday afternoon a variety of fancy groceries and other saleable articles with the kind words to sell them and make no returns to him, but to let all the profit go to the fund. Wenner, Kramer & Co., American Medicine Company, Faust & Sterner, J. Alfred Shafer, Frankenfield & Co., Clarence H. Stiles, M. A. & M. P. Schantz, G. W. Shoemaker and Butz & Co., have agreed to place at the disposal of the committee a fine display of pretty and useful goods at prices that will leave no profit to themselves. Wenner, Kramer & Co. will also furnish a beautiful banquet lamp, which will be chanced off. Visitors to-day will find the booth entirely finished and those within it ready for business.

For every dollar you give towards this most worthy of objects you will be blessed a hundred fold. You may be beneficial in aiding some unfortunate being at some future time who may be near and dear to you, though to-day has not a thought of ever needing aid. Help liberally; you get something at least for your money, and will feel all the better for it.

Another Contribution to the Fund.

Another contribution was added to THE MORNING CRITIC hospital fund yesterday, when J. H. Fink, the grocer and tobacco dealer, of Lehigh street, sent his check for $5. The letter accompanying the check is as follows:

"Please credit enclosed check to your hospital fund, hoping more may follow."

Yes, it is hoped more will follow. If every one in town would emulate the example set by Mr. Fink and give according to their means the fund would reach the desired amount in a surprisingly short time. Who will be the next to give to this worthy cause?
