

For sweet charity [royal helpers entertainment]

The Morning Call

Follow this and additional works at: <https://scholarlyworks.lvhn.org/historicalarchives>

Part of the Medicine and Health Sciences Commons

Let us know how access to this document benefits you

Published In/Presented At

For sweet charity. (1895, January 25). The Morning Call.

This Newspaper is brought to you for free and open access by LVHN Scholarly Works. It has been accepted for inclusion in LVHN Scholarly Works by an authorized administrator. For more information, please contact LibraryServices@lvhn.org.

FOR SWEET CHARITY.

An Entertainment Which Should be Given Every Encouragement .

A band of young misses, known as the Royal Helpers, a circle of the King's Daughters, whose sole object is charity, will on Monday evening next give an entertainment in the Y. M. C. A. Hall. Refreshments and novelties will be for sale. The admission will be free.

A great deal of good is done by the various circles of the King's Daughters, and they are entitled to the earnest support of the community. It is understood that one of the objects these young people have in view is to furnish and supply a bed in the hospital which the MORNING CALL has just cause to believe will soon be a reality in this city. The immediate object of the above entertainment, however, is for more urgent needs of charity. The MORNING CALL will print the program on Monday morning for the benefit of its readers.