

AS WORK BEGINS ON NEW CANCER CENTER

Major Parking Changes Are Announced

As construction continues, hospital and MOB personnel will be kept informed of temporary changes.

One of the first major results from the new hospital identification badges will be orderly transition to new parking arrangements at Cedar Crest & I-78.

Because of the coming construction of the new cancer center, in the vicinity of the two medical office buildings, parking for employees will be rearranged — but the new ID badges will allow access to lots for all employees and improve security.

Work is expected to begin soon on temporarily expanding one parking area before starting to tear up existing spaces. The goal is to minimize disruption of parking for employees, visitors and patients.

The most substantive part of parking lot alterations during construction will be the loss of spaces at the MOB end of the site. During construction, special arrangements are planned for employees and patients at the Medical Office Buildings to ensure adequate and convenient parking.

Meanwhile, visitor parking at the main hospital building will also be disrupted because of construction. To accommodate visitors, clergy and volunteers, parking will be extended into what is now a day shift lot near the MedEvac hangar and modular units. Day shift will move into what is now used for middle shift, and that lot will be expanded to provide sufficient places for all. It will be a card-access lot.

Middle shift, which Security defines as employees working past 9 p.m., will move into a section

And 5,600 'Give Me A Smiles' Later...

In just two weeks, nearly 5,600 images of hospital employees, volunteers, medical staff and visiting clergy were gathered by Security as the initial step in preparing a new set of Lehigh Valley Hospital identification badges.

The next step is to print out the cards, install magnetic strips to encode a variety of information, laminate them and distribute to each department.

At the time of distribution, expected in several weeks, Security will collect old cards, which will no longer operate various locks and gates throughout the system.

Meanwhile, the introductory offer of T-shirts bearing the hospital's new logo was so popular that supplies were exhausted twice. This meant many employees placed orders for specific sizes, and those shirts will be made available on June 18 and 19.

It was emphasized that the two distribution dates are to deliver orders only. No shirts will be on sale, and no new orders will be accepted.

Employees who ordered shirts during the information fair may pick them up between 7 and 9 a.m. in the Presidents Room and 2:15 to 3:45 p.m. in the Personnel Conference Room at Cedar Crest & I-78 on June 18. At 17th & Chew, distribution hours are from 7 to 9 a.m. in Parlor A, School of Nursing, and from 2 to 4 p.m. in the Cafeteria Conference Room.

There were a number of winners in daily drawings for T-shirts, movie tickets, coffee mugs and gift certificates. They included:

T-Shirts: Carol Fox, CNS; Perie Combee, Food Service; Rose Woodside, SSU; Ann Hessinger, Volunteer Services; Roy Newhouser, Dietary Services; Karen Moffat, OR; Michelle

What's News

Payroll Reminder

As a reminder, pay for working the July 4th holiday will be different, depending on department schedules. For those in a department with a five-day (Monday-Friday) work week, and who are required to work on Friday, July 3, pay will be at time and a half for working the holiday. For those in departments with a seven-day work week pay, will be at time and a half for working on July 4.

Additionally, some area banks will be open on Friday, July 3, so paycheck distribution at 17th & Chew remains the same. The cashier's office will be open Friday, July 3 from 8 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Benefits Spotlight

A memorandum recently distributed to all department heads indicates there is a limited number of discounted credit bank courses available at Lehigh County Community College. As a reminder, the courses are available on first-come, first-serve basis and there is a limit of one per calendar year. Interested employees should contact Marg Kratzer at ext. 8805 for a credit bank form. Credit bank forms are only distributed through Human Resources.

The hospital has not yet received notification about credit bank hours from Cedar Crest College. A memorandum will be distributed to all department heads when that information is available.

David Shingles, MD, has been incorrectly listed in the physicians directory since 1989 as being a participating physician in the HealthEast Health Plan. According to Human Resources, Shingles, who practices at 1101 S. Cedar Crest Blvd., Allentown, is not a participating physician.

That means that the health plan will reimburse only 65 percent of the fee schedule for office visits after the deductible has been met. In addition, the health plan will only reimburse 75 percent of the fee schedule for inpatient visits.

Those with questions about the changes should contact Gerrienne Keiser at ext. 8839, Maryjane Zanders at ext. 2930, or Leilani Souders, ext. 8807.

Alzheimer's Support Group

"Do You Remember Love?" will be the topic at the next Alzheimer's Support Group meeting, scheduled for June 26 from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m. at the Ambulatory Geriatric Evaluation Service (AGES), at 1243 S. Cedar Crest.

A film and discussion on the topic are planned for the meeting, offered through the hospital's Division of Geriatrics. For additional information about the group, contact Patti Brill, MSW, at ext. 9890.

HRD Programs

The next hospital orientation will begin at 8 a.m. at Cedar Crest & I-78 on Monday, June 15 and an optional tour of both sites will be held Wednesday, June 17 beginning at 1 p.m. at 17th & Chew and 2:30 p.m. at Cedar Crest & I-78.

CPR recertification will be held in the 24 hour-period beginning at 10 a.m. Wednesday, June 24, in the Pediatric Classroom, 5th Floor at 17th & Chew.

CPR certification, for which pre-registration is required by calling ext. 2430, will be held in two parts and attendance is required for both. Part I will be held July 9 and Part II on July 15. Times and locations for both are 9 a.m. to noon in SON Room 900, 17th & Chew.

Geriatrics Interest Network

"Depression in the Elderly" will be the topic of a presentation by Michael W. Kaufmann, MD, Chairman, Department of Psychiatry, at the next meeting of the Geriatrics Interest Network, to be held June 17 at 11:30 a.m. in the cafeteria conference room, Cedar Crest & I-78.

In the meantime, a group of subcommittees of the network continue to review various aspects of hospital service to the elderly ranging from parking issues to directional information. Among the sensitivity training plans being considered is a group of booths for employees to try simulations of things that affect older persons.

Specialized patient education material needs and development of a booklet on community resources are also under study.

The Geriatrics Interest Network has attracted widespread interest among hospital employees,

SHAPING A WIN-WIN SOLUTION

Unique Idea Rescues Heart Station Employee

Holter monitor tapes, which record virtually everything a cardiac patient's heart does over a period of 24 hours, require interpretation by a highly skilled technician using sophisticated equipment.

And when an employee is a single parent who suffers a serious illness that wipes out sick time and disability, the financial prospects are catastrophic.

But Heart Station staff recently rallied to not only protect the employment of an important member of their team and also ensure the workload didn't get backlogged.

Ellen Dwyer, non-invasive technician, Heart

"It keeps me from sitting around contemplating my illness and being depressed. I feel productive, and keep my self-esteem."

Station, continues to battle a chronic illness and recovery from an injury as well. She expects to be back in about a month. But thanks to a cooperative effort, she is still working on those Holter monitor tapes, preparing the assessments critical to physician evaluations of patients. In effect, her in-box moved to her house.

When the idea was first proposed, Dwyer says she was completely surprised but eager to accept it. Financial stability was only a part of it. "It keeps me from sitting around contemplating my illness and being depressed," she says. "I feel productive, and kept my self-esteem."

According to Nancy Carr, director, Cardiology, Dwyer had drained benefits during her recovery, but still had the capability of performing her job at home. So, with the help of Michael Spleen, director, Bio-Medical Engineering, and Randy Stubits, director, Logistics, Materials Management, the sophisticated computer equipment used to scan the tapes was moved to Dwyer's home.

Heart station staff pitched in by shuttling the tapes and the reports between the hospital and Dwyer's home, about five miles away, effectively keeping Dwyer on the payroll. Additionally, co-workers raised more than $400 through a benefit bake sale several weeks ago.

The arrangement "has worked out just great" from a productivity point of view. Because she is equipped with a fax machine, serious cardiac situations can be reported immediately to physicians, and she is available for emergency assessments at any time of day.

But what's also been meaningful, she adds, is the daily contact with co-workers. "I don't have any family in the area," she observes, so the daily deliveries of tapes offer the opportunity to stay in touch socially as well as professionally.

Carr praises the teamwork involved, which not only boosted morale but also avoided a potential crisis in workload.

"These assessments require a highly-skilled technician," she explains. Had Dwyer "slipped through the cracks," it wouldn't have been easy to find a replacement or pick up the slack. "It worked out really well for everyone," she says.

But most of all, it worked out best for Dwyer. "I can't begin to put into words what it has meant to me. The people at the hospital are truly helping me recuperate."

Meanwhile, in HRD...

Barbara Gangemi, secretary, Human Resource Development, wants everyone to know that caring isn't limited to nursing units in the hospital.

Having seen several instances where staff in Human Resources and HRD rallied to support a fellow employee in need of assistance, she would like to thank supportive co-workers when her son was diagnosed with cancer. Among the most touching examples was the morning she came to work and found an envelope under her door. It contained $100, from an anonymous benefactor.

near the MOB's, and night shift will be located in MOB areas. These, too, will be card-access lots.

The advantage of the arrangement is that it puts the respective shifts all in the same areas, which allows for more effective patrol by Security. The changes affect walking distance inside the building, depending on specifically where one works. For some, it will be a shortened walk, while others will have extra steps.

Access to the visitor lot will be changed to a style similar to that used at the Fairgrounds Medical Center at 17th & Chew — there will be a guard and a gate. And because Security now has vehicle license plate numbers on file, it will be able to monitor possible abuses of the system. More important, though, will be such courtesies as being able to track down a specific employee to remind them that their headlights were left on and to focus patrols in specific parking areas.

This same procedure may also apply at 17th & Chew, where minor adjustments to lot assignments are anticipated after The Allentown Fair. According to Security, it's a matter of using lots to maximum capacity. Among the concerns that will be resolved at 17th & Chew is access to the middle shift lot, which will soon return to card access status.

But parking is just the beginning for the potential of the ID badges. Some areas, such as Psychiatry, Pharmacy and the Library, are using the cards to monitor access to specific areas, and Jerry Kresge, director, Security, predicts that it's only the beginning.

In just one recent 20-day period, 38,000 transactions were recorded for everything from parking to access of specific areas. Each time a card is used, there's a record of the "transaction," not unlike use of ordinary credit cards. The ID card, programmed to permit entry into specific parking lots, can also be set up to allow or limit entry into specific areas of the hospital.

Because of the electronic trail left by a card, abuses can be easily traced. And, in the event of a lost ID badge, a few strokes on a keyboard can invalidate any access at all.

ABOUT OUR PEOPLE

Standing Tall in the Hall of Fame

Judging from his height, a lot of people suspect Randy Stubits, director, Logistics, Materials Management, might have once played a little basketball. But not many know he was a real star of the game, having recently been named the eighth member of the Ursinus College Hall of Fame for Athletes.

The 1976 Ursinus graduate was a four-year letter winner who put 1,119 points on the board to become ninth on the college's all-time scoring list. His average of 14.9 points per game stands as the third best career scoring average for players over 1,000 career points at Ursinus. He was named the team's most valuable player in his sophomore, junior and senior years.

Stubits was also named to the first team all-MAC in his senior year, and was a member of the Ursinus team commended by then President Richard Nixon for heroism in rescuing victims of a hotel fire in Huntingdon, Pa.

Natives of the area who followed high school ball in the early 70's might recall Stubits at Palmerton High School, when the Blue Bombers made back-to-back District 11 Class A tournament appearances.

Beth Cepil, MEd, MT(ASCP), SM(AAM), director, laboratory services, Clinical Laboratories, recently gave a presentation at the Pennsylvania Society for Medical Technology annual spring meeting in White Haven. The presentation was titled Quality Assessment in the 90's — Preparing for the Future.

Lynn Dashner, LPN, GI Lab and president of the Pennsylvania Society of Gastroenterology Nurses and Associates, co-presented a resolution to the House of Delegates at the annual education course of the Society of Gastroenterology Nurses and Associates in San Francisco. The resolution was to promote environmental safety standards in order to protect employees from immediate adverse reactions and to support research into the long-term effects of glutaraldehyde exposures. The resolution was passed and a research grant from the society is pending. The Food and Drug Administration has shown interest in the project and has asked to be kept informed.

Valorie A. Shanaberger, GN, Float Pool, recently graduated with honors from Lehigh County Community College. She received an Associate Degree in Applied Nursing, and during graduation ceremonies also received the 1992 ADN Student Recognition Award. In addition, the United States Achievement Academy announced Shanaberger as an All-American Scholar and named her as a United States National Collegiate Nursing Award winner.

Carol Fox, RN, BSN, CCRN, staff nurse, CNS Unit, was the recipient of the Neuroscience Scholarship Award given at the Neuroscience Recognition Dinner on May 2 at Brookside Country Club.

Sandra Karwaski, RN, BSN, MSN, staff nurse, Special Care Unit, recently received her master's degree in nursing from Allentown College.

Karen Juszczuk, RN, BSN, staff nurse, 7C, recently passed her certification examination in med/surg nursing.

Theresa Beers, RT, X-Ray tech, Radiology graduated in May from Cedar Crest College with a degree in nuclear medicine.

Fourteen nurses were among May 9 graduates from the College of St. Francis in Joliet, Ill., receiving bachelor's degrees. They include: Charlotte Buckenmyer, RN; Rosemary Cerimele, RN; Marilyn Rohrbach, RN; Renee Schick, RN; and Beverly Snyder, RN, all of Emergency Department; Linda Coy, RN, ICU; Mary Cramsey, RN, SSU; Arnette Odenwelder, RN, Hemophilia Center; Peg Parry, RN, Poison Center; Josephine Cannariato, RN, GI Lab; Diane Popovich, RN, Admitting; Barbara Ann Wachter, RN, Clinics; and Dorothy Deegan, RN, TCU. Buckenmyer received special honors for achieving a 4.0 grade point average for the entire program, while Parry was selected to deliver the class oration and received a special award for meritorious service.

Kay Tricano Receives WomanCare Award

Catherine Tricano, administrative assistant, Administration, was one of two recipients of the 1992 WomanCare of the Year Award presented at a special program on June 2.

The award is given to women who have surmounted a major challenge over their own health and who have those special qualities that inspire others.

Kay's indomitable spirit, cheerful attitude and optimistic outlook enabled her to return to her job much faster than anyone would have imagined.

— Kathleen Marth

Also recognized was Helene M. Whitaker, director of Planning, Research and Government Relations at Northampton County Area Community College and active in a number of civic and community organizations.

Both recipients were recognized for "overcoming obstacles that would defeat the average person" and possessing a "never-say-die attitude."

Tricano in recent years has been a traffic accident victim, had a mastectomy, thyroidectomy due to malignancy, and most recently fractured her arm and hip.

Described by Paul Nurick, executive vice president and COO, and Kathy Marth, administrative assistant to the COO as having a positive and cheerful attitude and providing an example for all with whom she worked. In each instance, she recuperated rapidly and returned to her job as soon as possible. Further, they wrote, "she refused to be catered to and got on with business as usual."

They add that her "greatest fear during her most recent hospitalization for the fractures was having to be dependent on someone," and cited her as "an excellent role model."

Of Tricano, Nurick wrote, "Warmth, kindness and a willingness to help in any way required abound in this unusual person. These attributes coupled with adherence to the highest professional standards have made Kay an invaluable co-worker."

Another nomination came from Marie Signarovitz, RN, a longtime friend who says, "Kay taught me to consistently view life as a gift. She taught me to view our work beyond the tasks and techniques of daily life and to see the work of helping others as a lifelong commitment to caring and love in action."

Whitaker has a genetic disability, dwarfism, that requires her to walk with the assistance of leg braces, and she recently had cataracts removed from both eyes. Despite that, she is considered one of the Lehigh Valley's top planners and has served on numerous boards and municipal entities over the years.

Cheryl McLaughlin, Medical Transcription, explains the services of the department in keeping medical records current. The department celebrated National Medical Transcription Week with a display in the Anderson Wing lobby at Cedar Crest & I-78 and hosted a day-long symposium that featured presentations on topics ranging from cardiology to AIDS.

A Trauma Week Retrospective

Staff nurses who organized Trauma Awareness Week activities at Lehigh Valley Hospital drew substantial audiences to a variety of programs and applause from system leadership for a job well done. The week-long event included visits by 125 area school students, tours of trauma areas for about 125 hospital employees, and a Friday evening reception and reunion of 45 former trauma patients and their families. Among the speakers (far right) was Billy Amos, who was a patient in Shock Trauma for nearly a year and narrowly escaped death several times.

Above, Marilyn Guidi, RN, head nurse, STU, explains typical care protocols using a mannequin for illustration purposes. But for trauma staff, the high point of the week was on Thursday, when Craig Beil, RN, and Laura Beil, RN, (upper right) were among the presenters of "Code Red — One of Our Own." While Tammy Sands, RN, STU, described the clinical trail of Craig, critically injured in a traffic accident, the Beils provided insight as to what it was like to be a patient and an anxious loved one. They believe the experience enhanced professional skills in terms of providing care on their own unit, GICU-W.
