For Hospital's Benefit.

A delightful sociable was given by the M. U. M. Society for the benefit of the hospital at the home of Miss Daisy Schlosser. In one room were erected a number of fancy booths decorated in yellow and white bunting, where merry maidens sold home-made candies, chocolates, flowers and plants to generous purchasers. An interesting feature was the cosy tent of "Queen Flo," the palmist, who after first having her palms crossed with silver, would tell the past, present and future to anxious hearers. A program consisting of recitations, by Miss Bader, Miss Ella Meyers and W. H. Behringer; vocal solos, by Miss Florence Crader and O. Wilson was very much enjoyed. A harp and violin discoursed sweet music throughout the evening. A very neat profit was realized.
